'Beaten and robbed': How Croatia is policing its borders

Migrants trying to enter the European Union via Croatia have been illegally expelled back to Bosnia by police.

Some even told the BBC police had beaten them up and robbed them.

One police officer, who wanted to remain anonymous, told the BBC he had taken part in three "pushback" operations.

So bad story in slovinia

When i was there before 2 days ago we found a big waterfall he took 3 friends to the other side because the waterfall was very strong, I remember we all spoke the ' CHAHADA ' and got out from the valley with great difficulty, to all the people who have contact with the immigrants. I ask you to advise them not to take the path of the waterfalls because their lives are more important than Europe.

My friend has told me now A friend of ours died in the waterfalls of Croatia, may God have mercy on Yassin and all the immigrants who sacrificed for dignity
